<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Track Title</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Gray Vienna Scene</td>
<td>01</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drifting New Year's Scene</td>
<td>02</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Melodic List Scene</td>
<td>03</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lopsided Scene</td>
<td>04</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bedtime Scene</td>
<td>05</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plein Air Scene</td>
<td>06</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RAFI's Scene</td>
<td>07</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>80s Scene</td>
<td>08</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Argument Scene</td>
<td>09</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leaving Scene</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buggy Arrival Scene</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forgetful Country Scene</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eco Scene</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family Scene</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Binaural Horse Scene</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Space Belly Scene</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monopoly Bass Ride Scene</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coastal Scene</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Missing Scene</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hopeful Scene</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PLEASANT CHIRAL SCENE</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SLAPSTICK CRIME SCENE</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CLEANING SCENE</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DUSTY VOCAL SCENE</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Groovy Explosives Scene</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEBREW SCHOOL SCENE</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Middle Aged Dance Scene</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Warning Scene</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hairdryer Scene</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lazy Beat Scene</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oval Scene</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sped Up Arrival Scene</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Heist Scene</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Street Test Scene</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brandon Scene</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3 HOURS, 36 MINUTES
I met Carola about ten years ago when I first moved to Vienna. We were in a show together about pseudonyms and she briefly explained Vanilla to me back then. I mostly forgot about it until we connected through Sira about Bildraum. When we talked it was sunny. I paced up and down the sidewalk like a day trader. We’d been playing phone tag for a couple of days so the initial conversation about the show felt earned somehow. I told her that of course I remembered talking about Cream. How could I not when it was my favorite Wu-Tang song. She told me it was where Bildraum is now on Strauchgasse and it was called Vanilla. I told her I was doing a sound residency there and had been trying to find the melody of the street.
We complained about finish fetish and camera-ready objects, preciousness. I told her I was thinking of calling the show ‘Bildraum Electric’ and she seemed disappointed. We smiled about our kids and teaching. She said she was happy I was working there and treating it like a studio, and that an unsynced soundtrack for the space would’ve been perfect for Vanilla. She told me she used to go there on Saturdays. I told her that I’ve also been going there on Saturdays. One Saturday we went there together. She brought a copy of the Vanilla book her mom published, we ate sweets, then sat facing the rainy day through the window. We listened to some tracks I’d made there and stared at Strauchgasse, then recorded the tail end of our conversation.
Oh, no. Vanilla was only in here for three or four years. It was a really important place because there wasn’t any kind of space where you were able to meet. At the time, Vienna was gray and very conservative, with no colors at all. Everything was kind of black and white. It still had this post-war flare because of the Iron Curtain, and had this kind of sad, very heavy atmosphere. It wasn’t chic like the first district now, with these sort of golden corners with Louis Vuitton and Chanel. It was completely the opposite. In that time we all lived in the first district because apartments were very cheap, or kind of cheap.
Yeah, I had flashbacks when I went through the first district during the pandemic. Somehow I liked it much better. At Kärntner Strasse and Graben there were cars back then though. There was heavy traffic, then a few years later it changed, they started with the U-bahn. When Vanilla was here it didn’t exist but the Strassenbahn was really important. I remember they even made a Vanilla Strassenbahn party. It went around the ring the whole time and it was really funny and everyone was really drunk. It was this whole artist scene where everyone was young and not famous yet. But there were all these hierarchies of who was talking to whom and who was the better artist.

Well, this was a Wäscherei before. It was called “Habsburg” and was on the whole block. Well, nothing was really commercial, but yes, it was big. It was a kind of famous chain that did the washing for hospitals and at industrial scales. There were hardly any hotels either.
Walther Pichler was very high up and there was this whole hierarchy. And women also had a very special role. How can I say it? They were always in the second part or the third part of the order. They were supposed to be nice and beautiful but not so independent. I don’t even think there was a word for a female artist. I mean there was but...

When they were doing performances and shows here were female artists invited?

Yes? Hold on...Palais, Strauchgasse. That’s the name of the Palais on this block. Palais Ferstel.

You want to get the record straight?

Yeah, exactly.

So it was your mom and step-father running it, were the gender dynamics really pronounced or was it just quietly there?

Well, I think it was a bit similar to what we were talking about before about kids’ education. My mom always said they really tried everything out, in terms of having and thinking about different kinds of relationships. Different kinds of open sexualities, whatever that meant. I was always pretty skeptical as a child but also later. But then I have to say that they really experimented a lot. Also in terms of kids’ education with us, there weren’t certain rules, they just wanted to make... everything different and new but they didn’t know how yet. And with gender it was the same.

My mom was a very strong, independent, and creative person who led the club. But there were certain power dynamics with the whole system and it was a patriarchal system. I mean, no doubt. Even though she was always really fighting. Also with education. Feminism just started and they were fighting for feminism but still it was a very hierarchical and patriarchal system. Elfriede Gerstl was this amazing writer. She was good friends with Elfriede Jelinek but from a different generation. And she always said, while we were sitting in these kind of male artists groups in day-long coffee meetings where there was a lot of high and fluent discussion going on, we were sitting silently and just writing. It was hard to speak up. We did, but it wasn’t easy at all.

Yeah. I think they started it when I was eight or nine.

I JUST WANT TO GO BACK A LITTLE. YOU SAID YOU GREW UP IN THE SPACE TO SOME DEGREE AND WERE SEVEN WHEN YOU MOVED FROM TIROL TO VIENNA, AND THAT’S WHEN VANILLA STARTED?

Yeah. So the funny thing was that Vanilla was set up as an association but not to create a sort of elite group. They really had this marxist, democratic idea.
For example, everything had the same price. If it was a whiskey, or you bought a sandwich or a coffee, it was something like ten Schilling. And the same thing was with this association, you had to pay a membership, always for three months, and that was like three-hundred shilling. That was kind of a lot of money, but for that you got a key to come in whenever you wanted. The idea was to keep the police out but actually it happened in the end. There were all these newspaper articles that these young kids smoke and they do the drugs. But it was not a druggie place at all, my stepfather and mother were really very strict about that.

I mean, the association membership sounds very elite but it was not. It was more about having a space in this weird, conservative, strict, and very nasty time. About creating a sort of distance from this feeling of National Socialism that was still around. You know you had these Nazi teachers, it was this poison you were trying to flee. Then all of a sudden there was just this kind of island with a different feeling. A space where something else could happen.

The CI design was by Haus - Rucker - CO, there were a lot of artists and it had this very experimental explosion. It was just after Art & Revolution at Hörsaal I with Peter Weibel, Günter Brus, Oswald Wiener and Otto Muehl. Weibel was here a lot but Brus had already left to Berlin, so Vanilla just opened a little bit after that time.
In the interior everything was kind of simple. The walls were purple. The bar was silver. Everything was made out of nothing, but the space was huge. It was almost along the whole street and there were so many empty spaces at the time but not because of shopping malls or gentrification. Palais Ferstel hadn’t been restored in any sense, the walls were coming down and it still had this leftover, post-war feeling in a way.

Inside, the seating blocks were made out of purple styrofoam. People were smoking. You were still allowed to smoke in the space. I think in one space, not in the TV space or the exhibition space. The club members were always putting their cigarettes out in the styrofoam.

So it was really actually disgusting if I think of it now.

We always had this children’s Saturday though with all my friends and kids from the Vanilla members. And we built big houses with the styrofoam blocks, you know, with the cigarette butts in them, and would knock them down. It was just such a different time. I mean, now this would be a whole thing. Can you imagine eight or nine year old kids...

PLAYING WITH CIGARETTE BUTTS...I CAN IMAGINE IT.

AS A KID WOULD YOU COME A LOT AND JUST HANG AROUND, OR MOSTLY ON THESE SATURDAYS?

Mostly I came on the weekend.
I went to school and then maybe came sometimes when they had to order things or bring things, or kind of specific cleanings or whatever. At that time I lived just down the road and could walk up and down. So that was pretty easy. But coming back to the space. So there was this room where you could sort of hangout and drink and discuss and talk and listen to music that was really important.

Yeah, this list with the Doors, Vanilla Fudge, and Bowie. I remember I had this record box for a long time and then I gave it to someone.

Ughh, I’m a little angry about it but that’s okay. My mother would say it’s just material stuff don’t bother with it.

The music was okay. In an interview twenty-five years later, some critical members of Vanilla said the music was more mainstream. But back then it was not easy to get this kind of music in Vienna. We could ask Edek Bartz about it, he knows. He had the record store 3/4 on Ballgasse.
The Bee Gees
To Love Somebody (1967)

Rolling Stones
I Can’t Get No Satisfaction (1965)

The Beatles
Yellow Submarine (1966)

The Doors
Light my Fire (1967)

All Records of the Doors

The Animals
House of the Rising Sun (1964)

Otis Redding
Marianne Faithfull

Led Zeppelin

Stairway to Heaven (1971)

(later met plant at school with his daughter in UK)

Jimmy Hendrix Experience

David Bowie

VANILLA WAS HERE
Marlene Dietrich
Zarah Leander (Wunderbar)
Heinz Rühmann
Austropop started here...
André Heller
Erika Pluhar
Wolfgang Ambros
Georg Danzer
VANILLA Fudge
(played one night this is where the name came from)
Bob Dylan
Cat Stevens
Leonard Cohen
Joan Mitchell
The Kinks
The Supremes
Janis Joplin
Cream

The Mothers of Invention - Zappa
Clockwork Orange (a must)
Grateful Dead
Steppenwolf
Santana
Stevie Wonder
Wilson Pickett
Sam and Dave
James Brown
Joan Baez
The Velvet Underground
(was always the last number before Vanilla closed)
Lou Reed
Nico
The Grateful Dead
Pink Floyd
Jethro Tull
The Who (sell out)
Jefferson Airplane
(Surrealistic Pillow)
T. Rex (super important)
Roxy Music
That's a good question. Where did they play chess? There was another room that was the library with forbidden books and that's where they'd play chess. The housekeepers or people who looked after the Palais came nearly every night to play and they were really good friends. I think they felt bored over there, so they'd rather come over here. Palais Ferstel was just an empty something. There was nothing. It was pretty creepy to walk through.

Yeah, there was the bar and it was kind of like this wide...

Yeah. And it was really long and went through this whole space.

Yeah, in the big space I think. The big space was about three of these rooms long. It was huge and there was this little space next door. Now it comes back. You could walk through into it and that's where the game room was, where you could gamble, play the flipper, soccer thing.
SW  WOULD PEOPLE HANGOUT IN AND AROUND THE PALAIS?

CD  I’m not even sure. I think maybe some Amt (government office) was in there, but not really. I remember that Dieter Roth had an exhibition up there sometime in the nineties long after Vanilla was here. I remember that pretty well and I think he had like ten rooms with his work and installations. Till then it was pretty much nothing and then they started to renovate it. I’m not even sure who owns it. Now there’s all these shops in the arcades and Café Central on the corner.

SW  BUT THAT WASN’T THERE WHEN VANILLA WAS HERE. OR WAS IT?

CD  That’s a really good question.

SW  THERE WEREN’T TOURISTS LINED UP TO BUY A CUP OF COFFEE OR SIT IN FAMOUS CHAIRS...

CD  No, no, no!

SW  I’M JUST CURIOUS TO KNOW WHAT KIND OF INTERACTION THERE WOULD’VE BEEN BETWEEN THIS KIND OF ICONIC, HISTORIC COFFEE HOUSE AND A SPACE LIKE VANILLA. ON WIKI IT SAYS THAT IN JANUARY OF 1913, STRONGMEN LIKE TITO, FREUD AND STALIN VISITED THE CAFE. NOT TOGETHER THOUGH. APPARENTLY IT CLOSED AT THE END OF WWII AND REOPENED IN A DIFFERENT PART OF THE BUILDING WHEN PALAIS FERSTEL WAS RENOVATED IN 1975. THEN IN ’86 IT MOVED BACK TO THE CORNER WHERE IT’S NOW.

CD  During daytime, people went to the *Br, and of course to Cafe Hawelka. That’s where they all went to meet in the beginning.
Café Central was completely down graded, the whole area felt pretty grey and cold with rotten buildings and was postwarish. Vanilla was kind of next to Café Central. First the exhibition space, then some tunnel inbetween. And then the next space was the library. The library was for forbidden books, or ones you couldn’t get. You were able to read in there and it had to be quiet. Since books got stolen they had chains on them. Something like twenty years after it closed, my mother made this Vanilla book where I did the photos and helped. There was a big launch party at the MAK and someone brought an anonymous, silver parcel, and gave it to my mom. It was the Schwarze Book from Peter Weibel, and it had a stamp from Vanilla. All the books were stamped and I think I still have the stamp.

Would you and your buddies rifle through all of the forbidden books?

There were Robert Crumb comics and I looked at them and I was always like, whatever. But yeah, of course we looked at everything. I remember that there were quite interesting books, and that I liked to look at them and to be in the library. There was another room that was the film room. They showed films you were not able to see and I remember I loved being there. A friend of mine told me the first image he has of me at Vanilla was with cinema seats and in between them you see a tiny blonde mop of hair watching very serious slapstick movies. There’s also an image of me dancing and performing between the rows of the cinema. On these children’s Saturdays they showed things like Charlie Chaplin or Buster Keaton films for us. Once they showed some kind of Czech children’s films which were really interesting. I remember them still because they were sort of surreal in a way. So that was a good thing about this time, that they were thinking there has to be a children’s Saturday, and that they were thinking about education and how we’re living. They were really trying to renew everything, but it was also a bit naive and still the structure was how it was. Does that make sense?

SW

YEASH. I’M SURPRISED PEOPLE WEREN’T ALSO LIVING HERE.

CD

No, you couldn’t live here that wasn’t possible.

SW

IT SOUNDS LIKE IT WAS A KIND OF EXPERIMENTAL COMMUNITY CENTER...

CD

Yes, absolutely.

SW

AND REALLY CONTEMPORARY IN HOW IT MIXED ALL THESE DIFFERENT PROGRAMS. THERE WAS THE BAR, THE GAME ROOM, THE FORBIDDEN BOOKS LIBRARY, THE FILM SCREENING ROOM. WAS THERE A SPACE SPECIFICALLY FOR EXHIBITIONS?

CD

So there was the library, the film room, and I’m not sure if there was something like a TV room. There was only black and white TV back then and there was this movement going on.
With experimental TV. A lot of the artists who worked here and lived in the same house that we lived in, we moved a lot but that’s another story, they studied painting at the Academy but they were more interested in performance. Even though the name performance didn’t really exist in German. It was more sort of doing actions. For example, Struppi and Heidi, they were sort of dressed up every day in a different way. And Struppi was actually the reason why I started to work on the book “Let’s Twist Again: If You Can Think it Dance it”. When I lived with Struppi in this house, every day when I came home from school, they left the apartment in a different, performative outfit. One day they went out dressed up as a nurse with a cold, or in fishnet stockings from London, or the next day dressed up as sisters with Heidi. Actually Struppi really wanted to go to London, and then to New York to the Warhol Factory. But they were too scared in a way or didn’t want to leave. Once Struppi was wearing a black suit and I remember thinking, my god this is so conservative. It’s funny that I thought this, but somehow, I did. When I was walking away I felt this big urge to turn around and look at the suit again, but thought, no, this isn’t cool. But then of course I turned around, and on the back of Struppi’s head was a skull. At that time, doing something like that was a big deal.
But no one was doing this, you know, it was just them. Then they started doing fashion things with my mother, they had performances here. There was a lot going on in here. It was this community of trying things out, experimenting, and I think they had a lot of fun. But for someone like Struppi, there was no place for that kind of work, even though there was already Actionism. So, in a way they disappeared. I think Struppi was an early AIDS victim. In the 80s, they left, and we never knew where they went. But I always kind of connect this space to Struppi because they were always also working behind the bar. So, these were the people who were here every day and who they were also showing. They had another space by where the bus stop is now, but somehow it was more connected. And that's where they had an exhibition space.

AND WAS IT MOSTLY PEOPLE FROM THE INTERIOR CREW OF VANILLA BEING SHOWN? WAS IT KIND OF PROGRAMMED OR JUST LOOSE?

Nothing was programmed. They were serious about it though. Very serious about everything.
The architect Hermann Czech, who’s representing Austria with AKT at the Biennale this year, said that it was a ‘bar-in’ and the first residential and club landscape. He didn’t think architecture was a priority and that it was about other issues though. About books or movies that you didn’t get to see or read elsewhere and a great space for young people. He made a poster of himself from an old passport photo that he put up in Vanilla. He said to my mom Christiane, who was the club owner, that if you needed a membership card to belong, he wanted number 1. And so he got the number 1. A few months later he and some friends had a conversation about Vanilla and he proudly pulled out his membership card with the number 1. Then, the artist Ernst Graf pulled the number 0 out of his pocket! My mom told Ernst that the number 1 was already for Hermann. He apparently waited for months until triumphantly throwing the number zero in his face. I love that story. We told the story to each other over the years.

CD: I CAN BORROW THIS VANILLA BOOK, RIGHT?

SW: I CAN BORROW THIS VANILLA BOOK, RIGHT?

CD: Yeah, that’s for you.

SW: AWESOME, THANKS CAROLA!

CD: So that was really nice...
TRANSFORM SO THE PULSE CHANGES IN THE MIDDLE AND COMES BACK...ADD A COUPLE EXTRA SECONDS OF SILENCE AT THE END

20:31 / FILDY, SCI-FI WALLPAPER (BILDRAUM - NA) *LOOK AT LEVELS - COULD GET LOUDER, AUTOMATE SO IT SWELLS AT A POINT,

$06_1015 – ‘ENDING SCENE’, ‘FIGHT SCENE’, ‘VIOLENT SCENE’, ‘PLEIN AIR SCENE’
20:31 / FILDY, SCI-FI WALLPAPER (BILDRAUM - NA) *LOOK AT LEVELS - COULD GET LOUDER, AUTOMATE SO IT SWELLS AT A POINT,

$07_1037 – ‘WAITING SCENE’, ‘RAFI’S SCENE’
08:39 / FILDY, SWELLING, DRONE TEST (BASEMENT) *MIX IS A TOUCH MUDDY BUT GOOD, THE 4MIN MARK FEELS BORING??
TRANSFORM SO THE PULSE CHANGES IN THE MIDDLE AND COMES BACK...ADD A COUPLE EXTRA SECONDS OF SILENCE AT THE END

$08_1023 – ‘80’S SCENE’, ‘SUCCESS SCENE’...
01:08 / ARP BEAT, ENERGETIC (BASEMENT) *LOOK AT END
$09_1029 – ‘ARGUMENT SCENE’, ‘DIALOGUE SCENE’ 5:50 / Vox SMPL

$10  ‘LEAVING SCENE’, ‘ENDING SCENE’, ‘GOODBYE SCENE’

06:23 / VOX, FILDY, QUIET BEAT (BASEMENT)  ‘BRANDON LIKES IT, LOOK AT PERSISTENT SYNTH—TRY TO CHANGE ITS IDENTITY

$11_1042 - ‘BUGGY ARRIVAL SCENE’... FILDY, ‘MARKET SCENE’

17:23 / FILDY, HORSE WALLPAPER (BILDRAUM - KT)  ‘TRANSFORM CHORDS A LITTLE...GREAT! MAYBE A LITTLE MUDDY...

12_1060 – ‘FORGETFUL COUNTRY SCENE’, ‘WYATT SONG’

2:53 / VOX, SONGISH, RIDICULOUS (BILDRAUM - KT)  ‘SHORTEN IT A TOUCH, SWEETEN UP VOCALS

$13_1014 – ‘ECO SCENE’, LEARNING SCENE’

1:53 / INTERLUDE, SYNTHY MELODY, A HARM MINOR (BASEMENT)  ‘FEELS VERY BOARDS OF CA

14_1006 – ‘FAMILY SCENE’, ‘MONOPOLY SCHOOL SCENE’, ‘CAPITAL SCENE’

2:58 / VOX, MANI, CLAUS, MUTTI MONOPOLY FILDY, QUIET BEAT (BASEMENT)  ‘LOOK AT VOX, MAYBE PULL OUT A BIT

$15_1053 - ‘BINAURAL HORSE SCENE’

13:10 / DRONEY, SHARP, HORSES (BASEMENT)  ‘GOOD DRONE FILDY

16_969 – ‘BELLY SCENE’, ‘SPACE BELLY SCENE’, ‘EARLY SCENE’

11:38 / SYNTHY, SCULPTURAL (BILDRAUM - NA)  ‘GREAT! MAYBE PLAY W MIX A LITTLE SO SYNTH ATTACK HAS MORE VARIATION

$17_1002 – ‘BASEMENT SCENE’, ‘MONOPOLY BASS RIDE’

1:22 / BEAT, CLAUS & MANI MONOPOLY FILDY (BASEMENT)  ‘C/O RELEASE?

$18_1031 – ‘COASTAL SCENE’, ‘WAREHOUSE SCENE’, ‘WOBBLY SCENE’

2:00 / INTERLUDE, SYNTHY MELODY (BASEMENT)  ‘FEEL GOOD TUNE
24_971 – ‘DUSTY VOCAL SCENE’, ‘DUSKY VOCAL SCENE’, ‘HUSKY VOCAL SCENE’

6:27 / DRONEY (BASEMENT) *GOOD AND PLEASANT MÉLODIC DRONE, LOOK AT END? HAIRDRYER OUTRO? MAKE SHORTER...

*21_980 - ‘PLEASANT CHIRAL SCENE’, ‘VIENNESE SCENE’

13:15 / BUZZY, SHARP, SCULPTURAL, FILDY (BILDRAUM - NA) *SAIFALI LIKED

22_998 – ‘SLAPSTICK CRIME SCENE’, ‘CLIMAX SCENE’

3:41 / BEAT, CATCHY (BASEMENT) *KINDA AGGRESSIVE, GREAT BEAT, VERY FIGURATIVE...SHORTEN A BIT

23_1000 - ‘CLEANING SCENE’, ‘STICKY SCENE’

1:36 / LOOPY VOX & FILDY BEAT (BASEMENT) *STICKY SENSE OF TIME

24_971 – ‘DUSTY VOCAL SCENE’, ‘DUSKY VOCAL SCENE’, ‘HUSKY VOCAL SCENE’

7:28 / VOX, SCULPTURAL NARRATIVE, FIGURATIVÉ FILDY (BILDRAUM - NA) *MELLO DRÁMATIC, LOOK AT SYNTH STABS AND BOTTLE SOUND, PULL OUT FILDY A BIT MORE, CLEAN UP VOX A TOUCH SO THEY AREN’T SO SLOPPY...

25_1001 - ‘GROOVY EXPLOSIVES SCENE’, ‘NEW YEAR’S SCENE’

4:43 / SANDY, FILDY CLICK, TUNISH (BASEMENT) *HAS A KIND OF IRISH DANCE TUNE FEEL, LOOK AT MIX, MUDDY, MAYBE BRING IN FIREWORKS MORE...EXPLODE ENDING?

26_968 – ‘HEBREW SCHOOL SCENE’, ‘B’NAI MITZVAH SCENE’

3:06 / VOX, SCULPTURAL, EMBARRASSING? (BILDRAUM - NA) *LOOK AT SOME OF THE VOX EDITS, IT’S A LITTLE DRY AND A LITTLE LONG...NO BASS NICOLETA, SHOULD END AROUND 2:20ISH?....LOOPS WELL TO 01_1058, BRANDON LIKES IT
27_1048 – ‘MIDDLE AGED DANCE SCENE’, ‘SAMPLING SCENE’
1:15 / BEAT, POPPY INTERLUDE (BASEMENT) *SHORTEN AND TIGHTEN
$28_1041 – ‘WARNING SCENE’, ‘CLOUDY SCENE’, ‘ROLLING SCENE’
1:32 / FUZZY, INTERLUDE (BASEMENT) *C/O RELEASE?
29_973 – ‘HAIRDRYER SCENE’, ‘PARTY SCENE’
2:09 / MELODIC LOOP, UPBEAT, SYNTHY: INTERLUDE (BASEMENT) *WHAT NEXT?
30_1013 – ‘LAZY BEAT SCENE’
1:15 / SSL BEAT, POPPY INTERLUDE (BASEMENT)
*SHORTEN AND TIGHTEN, DETROIT TECH VIBES
$31_1036 – ‘OVAL SCENE’, ‘DOPPLR SCENE’
3:50 / FURRY, SCULPTURAL (BASEMENT) *BOTTLE-NECK DEVELOPMENT, CHEAP HORSE FILDY
32_993 – ‘SPED UP ARRIVAL SCENE’, ‘OPENING SCENE’
7:02 / HORSE FILDY WALLPAPER, REGAL (BILDRAUM - NA) *NO BASS NICOLETA, HORNS & FILDY COULD DEVELOP...
$33_1043 – ‘HEIST SCENE’
1:20 / FUZZY INTERLUDE (BILDRAUM - KT) *LOOK AT ENDING FADE?
*34_982 – ‘STREET TEST SCENE’, ‘SINGING STRAUCHGASSE SCENE’
20:38 / RESO HORSE FILDY (BILDRAUM - KT) *INTERESTING OVERTONES, DEVELOPS A LITTLE SLOW
$35_1052 – ‘BRANDON SCENE’
5:24 / VOX, BEAT, BINAURAL (BASEMENT) *JUST A REMINDER THAT I LOVE HIM

SADIE SIEGEL 16 17 06 2023 *edit VANILLA WAS HERE
SOME EXTERIOR IMAGES
OF VANILLA W AI

BILDRAUM 01 / STRAUCHGASSE 2, WIEN

WORKING TRACK LIST

JULY 18 2023
SOME INTERIOR IMAGES
OF VANILLA W AI

BILDRAUM 01 / STRAUCHGASSE 2, WIEN

JULY 18 2023
THANKS SIRA!
THANKS CAROLA!
THANKS CLAUS!
THANKS PORKCHOP!
THANKS MULTI!
THANKS HUGGY!
THANKS BUNZ & WAMZ!
THANKS GPA ALBY!
THANKS BERNIE!
THANKS PAUL!
THANKS LD!
THANKS ALRESCO!
THANKS BUTTERCUP!
THANKS TUGS!
THANKS RHONDA!
THANKS RAFI!
THANKS GUI!
THANKS SAIFALI!
THANKS SIMONE!
THANKS ANTOINE!
THANKS ANNA!
THANKS LARRY!
THANKS CELESTE!
THANKS BILDRAUM!
THANKS VIENNA?
THANKS PAPER BAGS!

VANILLA WAS HERE
SETH WEINER & SADIE SIEGEL
6. JULY 2023 - 25. AUGUST 2023
CURATED BY SIRA-ZOË SCHMID

BILDRAUM 01
STRAUCHGASSE 2, 1010 WIEN

TEXT: SETH WEINER & CAROLA DERTNIG
COPY EDITING / SPIRIT GUIDE: CLAUDIA SLANAR
SONIC CONSULTING: MANÈS WEINER-SLANAR
PRODUCED WITH THE GENEROUS SUPPORT OF BILDRECHT / WWW.BILDRECHT.AT

ED. _____ / ______